

At Luctor Yachts we are pleased to announce that the Luctor 42 IRC racer is the weapon of choice of the Seawolf sailing team for the coming seasons. The new Seawolf will be build this winter at Standfast in The Netherlands and is scheduled for launch on the 15th of April 2008. After some fine tuning and training by her crew, Seawolf will participate in the North Sea Race and North Sea Regatta. Further along the season Seawolf will compete in a couple of IRC events in the UK and Northern France, to be transported to the South of France later on to participate in the Voiles de St. Tropez, Tour de Corse and the Rolex Middle Sea Race.

The owner Henri Tinchant has selected the Luctor 42 because of her excellent combination of exhilarating speed and IRC scoring board potential. "There aren't many boats within the 42 ft. segment that are equally fast and have the same IRC performance", according to Mr. Tinchant. The Luctor 42 is the boat of choice when you want to have a real fast racing experience and also want to win trophies.

We are very pleased to see that the design philosophy of the Lutra Design Group and their approach towards IRC is more and more adopted by sailing teams across the globe. Therefore the interest in the Luctor 42 is getting bigger by the day. We are looking forward to compete at the highest level of yacht racing.
